

AFTA EDUCATION AND TRAINING is an education arm of the Australian travel industry association, The Australian Federation of Travel Agents (AFTA). We collect this information to assess your educational and or professional background before we make any recommendation about your training with an appropriate AFTA accredited training provider. As our role is to monitor quality training and successful career progression into our industry ONLY, we do not enter the discussions between you and the training provider about the fees etc.

Please note that the advice we provide here is free of charge and without prejudice. You should however, seek your own independent advice before making any decisions as AFTA E&T will not accept any liability cause by its advice or suggestion.
